

Don't Let the Numbers Confuse You!

In a life-threatening emergency, there is only one phone number to call:

9-1-1

Here is where the confusion begins.

Some community and service organizations use their own unique telephone number, such as 2-1-1, for community services and volunteer opportunities. In addition, some private roadside and emergency assistance companies promote a similar phone number for their service calls.

Don't Let the Numbers Confuse You!

Only by calling 9-1-1 for life-threatening fire, police or medical emergencies can you be assured that help is on the way.

Always Call 9-1-1 First in Emergencies
